

PRESS RELEASE

BANCTEC Signs as Reseller for Jara Diversified Services' Remittance Processing and Check Imaging Solutions

WOODBURY, MN. and EL PASO, TX, October 6, 2003 – Jara Diversified Services, a leading provider of solutions for accounts receivable conversion and BANCTEC, a leading electronic payment service bureau, today announced that BANCTEC has entered into a reseller's agreement to offer Jara Diversified Services' Draft Conversion Plus to clients to enhance collection efforts and streamline their remittance processing procedures.

Merchants use Draft Conversion Plus for accounts receivable conversion to convert checks for clearing through the ACH network. BANCTEC runs Draft Conversion Plus at their corporate office where collection efforts take place on returned items. By sharing a common automated return process, BANCTEC is effectively able to initiate collection efforts sooner for their clients and provide a daily status of all return and collection activity to ensure optimal cash flow.

"We selected Jara Diversified Services' Draft Conversion Plus solution because they have carved out a technology niche and developed a significant footprint in the electronic payment industry. My experience has taught me that software perfection is an unrealistic goal – it exists nowhere in our modern world. But simply defined, software quality is achievable. Does the software conform to its requirements? Is it developed with a consistent set of standards and practices? Is it readily maintainable? Is its usability acceptable? Even though they cannot create perfection, they can create improvement; and I assure you, their products are going to get better and better," said Bruce Woods, President of BANCTEC.

Stephen E. Jara, President of Jara Diversified Services, said, "We are very careful about partnering with resellers. As a result, we have built a relationship with BANCTEC and Bruce Woods over the past year and we are very excited to team up with this very professional, customer service oriented organization. We are committed to supporting BANCTEC and their customers to achieve their check processing goals."

About Draft Conversion Plus and Draft Control Processing System

Draft Conversion Plus is a low-cost, high-quality solution for Accounts Receivable Conversion that uses check image readers to capture check and remittance stub information. MICR line information is converted into ACH form for clearing, and remittance stub information is captured to facilitate accounts receivable updates.

Draft Control Processing Systems ("DCPS") is a low-cost, high-quality solution for Day 1 and Day 2 transaction processing.

Draft Conversion Plus and Draft Control Processing System are designed to save time and overhead cost, Image Character Recognition and auditing functions facilitate accuracy and error correction. A powerful Export Utility accommodates most general ledger and other accounting programs without costly customization.

PRESS RELEASE

About Jara Diversified Services

Jara Diversified Services is a privately owned technology provider in the electronic payments industry. We market NACHA compliant software for Accounts Receivable Conversion ("ARC") services via the Automated Clearing House Network ("ACH") and Federal Reserve Banking System, and Check21, COF and ECCHO compliant software for check truncation and Day 1 and Day 2 processing for financial institutions.

Draft Control Processing Systems ("DCPS") is a low-cost, high-quality solution for Day 1 and Day 2 transaction processing. Check image readers capture draft and internal document information. MICR line information is converted into ACH form for clearing, and internal document information is captured to facilitate balancing. Alternative to ACH, high quality MICR encoded images may be printed. Images may also be edited as would be required for a clearinghouse environment. For more information, please visit the company's Web site at www.jaradiversifiedservices.com

About BANCTEC

BANCTEC is recognized by the Federal Reserve Bank as a service bureau for the processing of electronic payments. Each month, BANCTEC processes hundreds of thousands of dollars of transactions and take pride in the speed and accuracy in which the payment process occurs. BANCTEC originates payments every business day and provides daily updates to their merchants. Since January 1998, BANCTEC as built their banking relationship on successful processing, corporate integrity and customer service.

With BANCTEC, you can accept more checks, increase sales and build your business by offering your consumers a liberal check acceptance policy! For more information, please visit the company's web site at www.ebanctec.com

We are in the business of moving money. We know that cash flow is crucial to the life of ANY business. With our portfolio of Electronic Check services we can provide "cash on time, every time"!